Hor "The Evening World" Got tie True Result of the Race.

Filse "Extras" and Reports Announced Vigilant as Winner.

But White Messengers Brought the Accurate Details.

"The Evening World" may be pardeued if it takes to itself a considerable Are of honest pride for a great stroke of newspaper enterprise. It was able yesterday afternoon to give to the public the first accurate news of the result of the opening race between the cup defenders.

In fact, it was the only newspaper in the city which announced the correct SLASHED HER BROTHER-IN-LAW. result last evening. It did this promptly result last evening. It did this promptly in its 6 o'clock Extra, giving not only the official figures of the start and finish, but the corrected time, which showed that Colonia was safely the winner of the first great trial race. It was one of the closest and most exciting contests ever sailed in New York waters.

The fact that Vigilant crossed the count ascur payers of saft only 18500 yiewed the race from the land. In the absence of any accurate information as to the time of start and finish many were led to believe that the iselin-Morgan syndicate fiver had won.

But even "fake" extras, which were scattered broadcast in the stress of the city, pretending to give the result of the race before the official figures could possible be obtaired, did not change the result.

"The Evening World" waited for the race before the omeral ngures could possible to obtained, did not change the result.

"The Evening World" waited for the result and gave the correct news.

Owing to the persistence with which, the false report of Vigilant's victory had been spread, and the mass of alleged details of the race and finish given, which seemed to support this theory, it was some time before the public knew what to believe.

But as soon as the Luckenbach, containing the judges and Committee of the races, returned to town the accuracy of "The Evening World's" reports was fully confirmed in every particular. It was "The Evening World's" carrier pigeon service which enabled it to get ahead of its rivals in giving the all important news to the public. To the credit of the white-winged messengers it must be said that they performed their duties in the most exemplary manner.

of the great struggle between the two cup defenders.
Only one of the flock, the first one liberated, carrying the news of the start from the Scotland Lightship, showed any of the proverbial faults of the ordinary messenger service. It took him just about four hours to get back to his coop with the message. The distance to be traversed was about twenty miles as the crow floss.

be traversed was about twenty miles as the crow files.

However, this was immaterial, for the start could be plainly seen by the observers who telescopes at the Atlantic Highlands.

The second messenger, which brought the news of the cup defenders as they turned the stake, arrived in good time. The best record was made by the pigeon which was liberated just after the big yachts had crossed the finish line, about $2.50 o'clock.

vachts had crossed the finish line, about 2.50 o'clock.

He reached the loft at Tompkinsville at 4.30 sharp, and the message, written on tissue paper, was fastened securely to his foot. It read that the Colonia had safely won the great race, although appearances, at least so far as those on shore were concerned, had been very much against her.

The news was received at "The Evening World" office in New York by telegraph a few minutes later, and the result was known all over town by 6 in the evening.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.-An analysis of the votes cast in the House on the 28th ult., together with the statements made by a number of speakers who voted for the repeal of the silver-purchase clause of the Sherman law, have led some friends of silver to assert that so far as the House is concerned the question of free coinage of silver is not settled by any means, and certainly not in the negative.

purchasing clause of the present law, 155 members in all voted for the use of silver as money and all are claimed as free coinage men by the advocates of that policy.

To these are added by the sanguine silver men Speaker Crisp and all those who in the course of the debate expressed a willingness under other conditions to vote for free coinage. These are estimated at twenty-five, which with the 155 on record, would make a majority.

Upon this basis free silver men in the House say that if the Senate should amend the Voorhees bill by adding some provision for the coinage of silver it would be passed by the House. And they profess themselves to be greatly encouraged over the prospects of some such issue of the present controversy by the developments in the Senate of the past few days.

State troops stationed at Fort Anderson, Coal Creek, were removed yesterday. About thirty of them are under bond to answer for lynching Drummond, a miner, who was suspected of killing Private Laugherty, one of their number. On this account the garrison will remain quartered at Clinton, in Anderson County, until after the October term of the Circuit Court.

The entire population of Coal Creek Valley turned out to witness the departure of the troops, but there was no demonstration whatever. Serious trouble is feared at Coal Creek among the miners themselves. Sheriff Rutherford was called on for extra deputies yesterday, afternoon. There is no danger of further trouble on account of convicts working at Coal Creek.
